ARE YOU FULFILLING THE SOUL MISSION OF YOUR EARTH? --- YOUR COUNTRY?

Christ Jesus through Virginia Essene

March 4, 2005

Beloved Love Corps family and all beings dedicated to the light,

As you allow the divine power of my love and concern to descend around your aura in a glowing shower of silver and gold radiance, please let its flowing embrace enclose you with the sacred remembrance of your own soul's wisdom and beauty. For it is a wondrous rainbow essence you wear even though most of you cannot see it with your present physical sight and rely on us to confirm that this light, color - yes, and sound - are your true identity even though apparently hidden within and around your current bodily form.

Then kindly feel the love and respect that I hold for you blossom throughout your body, emotions and thoughts, and let the cosmic flowering of love surround you with great joy and peace. Hear the celestial melody you are! Remember the wisdom available to you! Use the eternal love the Creator has granted you to express the magnificence of unity through your soul's intention. It is for this reason we of heaven come - to remind and empower your own remembrance of this celestial identity and purpose.

Pause a moment to breathe deeply of this inspiration and remember how priceless and precious you are in the core of your inner spirit. Remember how precious you are to God and to others in the many mansions and realms of your former home. Remember how priceless you are to the consciousness of your brothers and sisters on Earth and to this exquisite living planet that wombs you during this shift into higher heavens.

In your finest thoughts and actions remember you are priceless to all of life here... to all of what you call nature, be it the trees and living things, the wildlife and domestic animals, or the whales, dolphins, and things of the sea. You are stewards of the birds, and even those insects you take for granted or wish to destroy. Even more important, however, you are a celestial soul courageous enough to choose physical embodiment here on Earth while remembering and holding fast to the soul principles that Earth offers all its inhabitants. Your soul is committed to activating other humans so that the Earth's soul melody can sing ever more beautifully in this solar system, the galaxy, and beyond.

Thankfully, many more humans are realizing that they have global citizenship, or more precisely stated - they have planetary soul passports identifying them as citizens of planet Earth! Yes, dear hearts, you are the community soul members of this planet's destiny though some may have forgotten why they have incarnated into a specific physical location on the planet at this time. So everyone you meet here is either conscious or unconscious that they are wearing a soul "identity card" marked planet earth. You have had other identities before this current one, of course, and you will have others in the future. But this is your specific identity for this lifetime although the physical identity papers you carry here state your residence in one specific country or possibly two if you have gained dual citizenship.

Since your physical reality grants you planetary citizenship, as we and other mentors have called it, what does that require of you in the way of responsibility? And how can you know if you are being a good global citizen? Indeed, how does the fact that your current identity is one of planetary citizenship expressed outwardly when your physical body is usually situated in one or more very specific places?

You have already realized that you have several identities since you have a global citizenship and you are also intimately involved in living in a particular country you call your nationality. From your nation you carry a physical passport for identification. So you are both a global and national soul simultaneously. Beloveds, it is this role you have as a particular soul in specific country - that also has a soul - that I wish to discuss. Then let me clarify what I mean by saying that each nation has a soul.

Please focus on the fact that a nation's soul is similar to your own overlighting soul, or divine pattern, that contains the essence of your identity...your wisdom, your love and potential beliefs and activities to support the divine plan. Though similar, the nation's soul has a much broader intention and overview covering an entire era of potential development that must be longer than the length of one human lifetime. Moreover, its potential must be include participation by many souls, not just one. It is therefore more complex than soul plans for just a few people and must go beyond your limited definitions of what life and time really are.

From our perspective, to be successful, the nation's soul requires a population who can remember and support the overlighting divine plan even while living in the limitation of a physical body. This can be a difficult assignment given that they must honor their own personal soul's pattern, expand into support for their nation's highest development, without becoming fanatical, and still give support for the local governments of city, county and state that exist between themselves and the nation. This is more difficult for those living in large physical countries because participation in these many levels of local and national government is very time consuming.

Please remember that the nation's soul plan includes the potential pattern for both its individual human members and all of these other more local governmental levels where the people participate. It must also include specific aspects such as past historical actions, racial, ethnic and religious group amalgamations, and past karmic issues of humans that need to be resolved. Think of it as a kind of collective identity waiting to be expressed! and be grateful for the light/energy rays that focus the soul pattern energies down to Earth. Yes, dear hearts, although you cannot see the rays, the divine light, and the grids and vortices holding them, know they are carrying the highest potential outcome for the planet, for each country, and for each soul seeking inspiration, wisdom and love.

Additionally, each nation's soul pattern also knows how it can best relate with other nations so that their cooperative soul paths form a more perfect global government. Indeed, during your past century, various national leaders seeded the vision of a system of international government called the League of Nations. From its intention you presently have the United Nations organization with its many member representatives at work. This indicates a common recognition that your separateness can be brought into vital agreements about human behavior that can manifest into a unified symphony of cooperation and peace.

For you in human form the fulfillment of plans for global government may seem to progress too slowly, but over the years there has definitely been a movement toward higher awareness regarding national and global soul participation. Nonetheless, in view of the accelerated incoming energies for each nation's soul, caused by the photon belt, the sun, and innumerable other powerful cosmic energies, this is a critical time to attune to America's soul nature and to dedicate yourself to fulfill its potential as quickly as possible.

Now let me quickly review these comments and put them into a question. Have you identified at least 5 levels of soul participation that humans could recognize and choose to support when they enter into human life?

First, are you absolutely certain that before you agreed to incarnate in this lifetime on Earth that you were a God-created soul with great wisdom and love? And, do you remember the enormous compassion you felt for the human conditions of suffering and pain that existed on Earth? Especially if you ever felt you, yourself, might have caused others to suffer. But it is their compassion that caused most souls reading this message to descend into the denser level of this third dimension. Therefore, today, we who guide and support that lowering of your soul awareness into materiality ask you to honor yourself just as we honor that decision and action! Thank you, dear ones, for opening your heart and offering this important help!

So are you absolutely certain that you came with a celestial identity and only temporarily assumed a planetary identity and responsibility as an "Earth soul" -- at the highest possible level? Please pause and breathe into that truth. Then say ... "Yes. I AM of celestial origin. I have a cosmic identity."

Now say it again in the quietness of your heart and mind. "I AM of celestial origin and I have a cosmic identity." Let the sweetness of that truth comfort and enfold you anytime the challenges of daily life seem temporarily harsh and it will quickly help remind you of this eternal truth.

Some people actually remember being born into physical life and beginning the process of growth but whether you do or not, you were immediately at the effect of your environment and the people in it whom you had to trust. Thus began a lifetime of your Earth soul identity that required enormous work and perseverance -- and was intimately based on your own willingness for personal spiritual growth. Yes, your ever-developing personal spiritual consciousness has been mentored by your own soul's guidance and any help you gained from others along the way.

Today, as you are in agreement with your higher soul principles, you are expressing those qualities of wisdom and love in your intimate relationships with family members and friends everywhere. So to be a responsible member of the planet's soul expression you have had to become a stable and balanced personality who willingly accepts guidance from your own soul's higher awareness in order to guide the various communities which affect your life.

Therefore, you are a celestial soul, a planetary soul, a soul of the country in which you live, and you are also a soul member of what you call a city, county and state. In each of these levels your role is to help determine the local laws and rules for harmonious living in your immediate region.

I repeatedly say to you that all of these responsibilities as a wise and loving citizen come from your inner strength and balance whether they are expressed locally, nationally, or as part of your country's soul family. In all of these roles, peace and harmony are your goals as America (or your own nation) relates to other nations in securing safety, peace and cooperation for all. In the final analysis, regardless of your national or local origin, you ultimately have a vital role as a global steward of all planetary life regardless of where you live.

Today we are asking you to weave your incarnation into an interconnected tapestry of the many responsibilities and destinies that are constantly challenging your equilibrium. We ask you to become the fulcrum point of peace and cooperation whenever possible. Consequently, whichever city, county, state and nation you reside in, you and those power influences are part of a soul plan that contain opportunity for both personal growth and for the full expression of your soul's wisdom in many groups.

It is, therefore, helpful to have some awareness regarding your regional and national soul group's strengths and weaknesses since they are linked to your own personal challenges and potentials. You will not be surprised to have me say that it is vital for you to participate as a unified, positive expression in all 4 responsibility levels as often as you can... and help others do the same.

Of course, you may assume that your immediate family members have the most critical influence upon you personally and are therefore more important than your local, state and country governments, which are seemingly not so influential. Nonetheless, all of you are under the overlighting influence of the area in which you agreed to incarnation, so your family was also expected to demonstrate positive principles as they raised you to live the highest ethical beliefs possible.

If they did not, could not, express these positive principles for you during your childhood then you are free to continue your own soul goals and personal growth with the assistance of helpful others. Sometimes, if a person were to permanently remain under the birth family's negative influence that experience would prevent them from meeting other members of their soul group - the true spiritual family - who are not necessarily blood relatives.

Now I shall request that you pause a moment, dear heart, and try to remember why you feel you were born, or now reside, in the region you presently call home. In what country, city and state do you claim residence?

Please pause a moment and breathe.....

Why are you living there? ..... Does any insight come to mind?

While living there have you ever felt separate, even sad, that you aren't part of a spiritual family group? Or have you felt you are not residing where you could best serve the Creator as a soul group member?

I ask this because before birth you each knew what your most opportune earthly destination was to be although many have forgotten or refused to take residence where they truly belong and where they would receive the greatest loving support. Please take your emotional response to this question very seriously because if you are not where you feel useful, it is not too late to take action. That action could be just an honest evaluation of how you could be more useful right where you are living merely by reaching out more fully to others. Or it might mean that you would change your physical location either temporarily or permanently.

For many people today there have been several physical locations, some seemingly unpleasant, but there is normally one place that speaks most fervently to the heart's awareness. This is the country where your soul group's opportunity and responsibility are probably maximized - something that I will discuss more fully today after I repeat once again the need for all humans to remember their role as global citizens irrespective of their physical residence.

The joy of your life, then, is to accept your stewardship of this extraordinary physical sphere wherever you live since you will then be expressing both your own finest soul qualities and the highest soul nature of that region and country. We implore each of you to find ways of bringing your spiritual influence to bear from deep within your soul out into the everyday decisions that affect yourselves, your local town, state, the nation and the planet. The local area where you live is also very important in helping you rise to the spiritual purposes of your nation because local matters are often more manageable and are more easily influenced. What you call town or community meetings are powerful, indeed.

Yes, the local, state and national are a blending and require awareness and balance during your lifetime just as they did in my own incarnation. Perhaps using my life as a model for what one citizen decided to do will be instrumental in helping you strengthen your own resolve to be about the Mother/Father's work.

What were the circumstances of planetary life at the time I came into physical form those many years ago in the Middle East? Can you see that the overshadowing power of Rome permeated much of the western world? And carried its influence into the various attitudes of the country where I lived, into the immediate local situation, and even into the early influence of my family and friends?

Yet underneath it all do you understand that it was my life? It was my soul purpose and my relationship with the Creator I wished to express? Indeed, it was my free will choice then even as you have personal choices today. All is choice. Because this is so, please realize that by their soul's choice many angels, masters and Lords of Light are still helping you on Earth this very day to reach your most profound spiritual consciousness. So we join with you to empower those 4 levels of planetary living you can influence by choosing to share our guidance and support for your own soul efforts.

May I say it is wise indeed for each person to add this 5th area of our spiritual support as you each express your own role as an individual, community, national, and global citizen. For as I exemplified, no matter what my family thought, no matter what the local attitudes were, and regardless of the power of Rome, I had a life to use for my own soul's purpose...a choice to help humanity fulfill their soul purposes. And, of course, to influence the human and national souls in the Middle East that need all the love you can gift it even these two thousand years later.

Then, beloveds, choose today to further express your own soul's wisdom and love and extend your harmony and peace at every possible level of participation. If it assists you to emulate my teachings by saying that each person is a Christed being who has a direct relationship with a higher power that loves and supports it, I am gratified. If you share simple guidelines today regarding the power of love and forgiveness - even as I did then and now - you may help another. Yet it is your exemplary model for others to follow that is so strongly needed today as the present vibratory energies demand and stimulate change and growth.

With a few old souls you may discuss the fact that humans are in a partnership of physical and subtle energies that, when balanced at a high frequency, bring the conscious intention and expression of God's divine plan into Earth...and then agree to work toward common goals. For those less conscious people you know, you may simply work with them based on mutual agreement that their very life, and the lives of billions of other in the generations to follow, depend on cooperation, unity and love.

But more than conversation, do you bring your intentions into everyday practice, yourself, so that you do your best to be a living model of what you proclaim? Have you noticed that there are some highly spiritual beings living among you who never preach, never discuss, but simply live their deepest values with the peacefulness of grace? This is an enormous gift to everyone around them and is always gratefully experienced by those who experience their balance!

Now many peace loving people have told us that they believe politics is a "dirty" business and they want no part of it. Yet in our sharing about what you call politics, I hope you have more fully realized that a soul quality must be involved in every aspect of social living. Indeed, the wisdom and love of the soul must be the basis of those decisions made on how to run the home, the local community, the state, the nation, and the world! Who is responsible for establishing and practicing these ethical guidelines needed to organize human existence? You, dear hearts - YOU! It is you who honor life and can influence the social institutions that support its many forms.

Happily, most of you reading this message are among those who do model these spiritual guidelines. However, many others are needed to insist on establishing the political laws, rules and regulations that societies must create to live harmoniously together until such a time when they are deeply imbedded in the human psyche and are no longer needed.

As you have observed, dear ones, in recent years there has been intense disagreement about what is appropriate for governments, corporations, and the people to establish as the laws of the land...and nowhere has this deep disagreement been more intensified than in the United States. It is for this reason I will discuss America's soul pattern, and the pattern of several other nations, so you may better understand the karma, or spiritual ramifications, of both your personal and governmental actions.

Breathe into the definition of this spiritual influence on social affairs as you speak the words... "spiritual politics" ... feel the grace of the words... and know that viable SOCIAL DECISIONS REGARDING THE WAY SOCIETY STRUCTURES ITSELF IS ESSENTIALLY DIVINE WILL IN ACTION. Yes, social decisions regarding the way society structures itself is essentially divine will in action and is based on your soul's spiritual attitudes of love and peace. From within yourself you can transform the outer world of reality by expressing your own highest qualities of peace and love. And then by joining with two or many others in your intention. This is the way great leaders and citizens have used spiritual consciousness to keep the world as safe as they could.

Think about it for a moment. How do people find safe places to live on the planet? They can only find such places when others have created the opportunity for them to enjoy them, so they must then judiciously guard and honor these peaceful conditions. Or if they cannot find the safe place they desire, they must go about the hard work of creating one. This has been challenging spiritual work for those who have come before you, and only enormous dedication and uncomfortable sacrifices have achieved it.

Therefore, I would like us to pause a moment here and give heartfelt gratitude to all of your past spiritual family who have done their best to create those safe places from which to serve the light at the highest vibratory frequency. ....

Holding that gratitude, please pause and also honor those who accompany you on the Earth today, for it is now your group's time to provide a gift of service to humanity.

Remember, beloveds, there is one soul gift that will never let you down. We have said it many times before ... call it love, compassion, cooperation, or unity. It is all of this and more. Just trust that if you consistently hold to the unity of spiritual tenets and never become involved in the mire of religious disagreements, you will be successful creators. This is because our Creator has but one truth for all and that is identified as the highest form of love. For in a state or flow of a loving energy, you treat others as you would like to be treated.

Many people know this principle as the "golden rule" but every culture has its own name for living in harmony with other people...and indicates the process by which this peace can be achieved. Seldom, however, do they require application of these attributes into the larger areas of governmental positions where those in power are required to implement the golden rule themselves in political decisions and activities.

We have a good example of this in America recently when the media related the conditions of the tsunami horror and innumerable citizens rushed to contribute – as did people in other nations, too. This was an example of serving others who are less fortunate without questioning their need. It was both personal and national spirituality in practice. However, it was just one immediate and obvious example of caring that is sprinkled in among thousands of other decisions where spiritual caring is not expressed. Nonetheless, it shows the essential character which your forefathers in America intended the nation to practice and I will share more about this with you after your important breathing time.

Now dear hearts, kindly pause and do the "7 breath" breathing practice. I hope you are using this, or some similar process, daily – and especially when you get into any situation that causes imbalance in your emotions. Always remember that humanity's evolution depends on your ability to spiritually maintain loving and compassion emotions over the negative ones that cause you so much explosive reaction to real or imagined stress.

Yes, pause and allow yourself to connect with your soul essence and let peace begin to flow into your mind and body. Close your eyes or stare at a fixed point and ask your teachers, guides and angels to gather around you. Begin to feel their unconditional love and relax very deeply with each breath and exhalation you do. Enjoy being with the DIVINE ENERGY as you breathe and accept its supportive essence.

Breath 1 .....hold to your comfort level & release with a big sigh

Breath 2 .....repeat

Breath 3 .....repeat

Breath 4 .....repeat

Breath 5 .....repeat

Breath 6 .....repeat

Breath 7 .....repeat

Please be especially gentle with yourself as you complete these seven, or as many more breaths as you choose without even counting. Just breathe until you feel lovingness in the depths of your awareness. As I have often said, breath is food for the spirit so savor it frequently. Only resume reading this message when you wish to continue from a more balanced energy level.

As we continue our sharing, you truly realize that the major issue for humanity on Earth today is how to bring the divine law, or principle of cooperation, into the material density where you reside. It is not about longing to leave the planet and forgetting the task of bringing heaven to earth, attractive as that sometimes may feel. Rather, it is about finding your spiritual family and joining together to take advantage of the special galactic energies you are presently receiving just for this very task. It is a cosmic energy feeding coming to you because of where your solar system is moving in the galactic cycle and you knew it would happen at this time so it could support your intention to bring greater harmony to life.

If you could see the energy it would be easier, but many of you can sense or feel something going on, at least. In whatever way you experience these higher frequency energies remember that they are shifting your experience of time, so the quickening of time is a vital clue that something urgent is happening. As time continues to vanish, it requires you to move away from things linear, from rigid beliefs and judgments, and from lovelessness to a higher frequency of joyful cooperation and spiritual expression.

So right now, how does America's soul pattern relate to your everyday life experience no matter where you currently reside? To answer that, let me start with this perspective. Each nation has certain karmic tendencies and challenges even though you are all global citizens charged with the care of the planet and its many lifeforms. At this time in Earth history, America is to be a nurturing soul nation intertwined with the power of freedom and the necessity of expressing that freedom responsibly with a loving and caring attitude. Its present role, which earnestly began with the help of the white brotherhood/sisterhood over 4 centuries ago, is to bring the feminine or motherly qualities of the Divine to this evolutionary cycle of human expression called the Aquarian or Golden Age. See if you can feel or relate to any of these qualities about America's soul as I mention some of them now.

America's soul quality representing freedom was always to be used wisely to create a place of safety and security - a true haven. Having a pioneering spirit, America was to be an optimistic place where family is honored and cared for and its children are given an opportunity to bring the next higher spiritual cycle into societal influence. With the focus on nurturance of family and children there would be interest in food, housing and real estate. There would be interest in things spiritual and in helping the less fortunate. There would be humanitarianism, idealism and compassion for suffering. Philanthropy would be practiced.

The citizens of such a country would be energetically drawn to live these ideals yet with free will they could always choose to just abandon these ideals, even abuse them. Where their focus on food is concerned, for instance, Americans presently have enormous food resources but the population also has developed rampant health issues related to obesity. While other nations starve, Americans over eat the wrong kind of food, ignore their physical body's genuine needs, and endanger their children's health. This is a regrettable situation for both individuals and the nation since it will likely affect both your present and future generations.

America is also a nation whose corporate organizations are abusing their own people's economic security and adversely affecting other people and nations around the world rather than caring for them. You may ponder these questions or not, as you wish, agree or disagree with my comments, but I ask you to think about America and select these same, or other, issues that seem presently unbalanced from the soul's point of view. Then contemplate the American soul lessons and if you see where there are improvements to be made, join with others to move toward a higher expression of personal and national consciousness.

Since most nations have come into form as the result of individuals and groups containing that bright spark of spirituality, that spiritual seeding either falls on fertile ground and gains direction and coherence, or it fails due to lack of community support. It is a delicate tight rope between society's expectations and those desires of the individuals living within it. But somewhere there must be a noble vision that is consistently tended or else both country and the people decline spiritually.

Who among you on Earth today is holding to the wisdom and love being offered by the souls' visionary concepts? Who provides the integration between the national identity and the people for further growth and consciousness to happen? Even as each of you must choose to demonstrate balance, so do countries. Then to express its soul, or spiritual character, a nation must attain some integration in order to move beyond the weakest human tendencies of its people.

For instance, if Americans themselves, or the organizations that represent them, become self-righteous to a fault and think everyone else should adopt their political and economic values, there may be an unpleasant karmic lesson required to help foster reconsideration of that belief and those global practices. Indeed, those Americans who can release their ego's defensiveness, realize that what you call a terrorist attack on America's major financial center in N.Y. was a horrendous reminder that not everyone agrees with those highly materialistic American monetary practices and attitudes that have harmed other countries and cultures. This is not to excuse such viciousness but it does ask the offended nation to honor its dead and then apply serious contemplation and spiritual evaluation about the meaning of the attack from a karmic point of view. What are the various sides, or opinions, regarding this event and what immediate and long term responses are going to best resolve the problem? An eye for an eye is a costly spiritual attitude.

You have probably discovered that sometimes life events have a way of demanding your personal and national attention. For example, in Europe, after World War II, U.S. tourists were called the “Ugly Americans” when they egotistically descended on many war-damaged nations with pockets full of money. Yet 60 years later the American dollar has lost nearly one-fourth or more of its value against most European currencies and many Americans do not understand what has happened to cause other countries to devalue their money, to dislike their government. Unconsciousness is a costly trait.

The word “civilized” is often applied to individuals and nations who live by rules based upon democratic principles and it is to this state of civilized behavior that each of you, each nation, and your entire world is being called to express. That is why the incoming energies are so powerful a call to the spiritual nature of everything related to this 3rd dimensional realm. These energies in support of moral qualities will only increase until humanity chooses to demonstrate its intentions by everyday life choices. That is why we come to you and offer food for thought, inspiration, and support. A person can change intention with a single thought and when two or more of you decide to join energies for a common good, what you call miracles occur. Do you believe it? That is the question.

In the same way that America has its moral choices, so do other countries have patterns both positive and negative to make choices about. Lest you think I am focusing only on America, let me briefly comment on several other nations who are facing their own individual and national challenges. Some of these like the Sudan in Africa, where hundred of thousands of people are being abused, are easily identified. Others are more obtuse.

You may wonder what the soul challenge in Russia is today now that some of its former Soviet Union member countries are currently seeking freedom to express themselves. Will the present Russian leader continue to fight those that desire their own destiny? Or can they find a way to negotiate a peaceful settlement? We are waiting to see whether the courage of the open hearted leader called Gorbachev, who promoted peace some years ago, will have a lasting effect on helping the Russian people resist a current movement toward ironfisted government. We await what the people may yet accomplish in this cold land where monarchy and dictatorship have overshadowed the human struggle for freedom

In Japan today, of course, there is a success story in progress for the country’s soul. After attacking many nations, in concert with Hitler in World War II, the Japanese people blindly supported their emperor (whom they believed to be a direct descendant of God) and the military power’s dreadnaut assaults on other nations. After attacking America at Pearl Harbor which led to a vicious war that finally unleashed an atomic bomb on their city at Hiroshima, their forces would finally surrender to General McArthur who wisely refused them any further military activities during the American occupation,

Without money being spent on weaponry, the hardworking, structured and inventive population turned their attention to manufacturing automobiles and technological products and quickly began an extraordinary economic recovery. Many American homes and driveways were filled with their products then and even more so as the years have passed.

Because they live on many islands susceptible to earthquakes, because they experienced the atomic bomb blast, and because they deal with so many electronic devices, the Japanese are very attuned to the energies of this New Age. Provided they don’t again seek to invade other countries to make more room for expanding populations their national soul is much more at peace.

On the opposite side of the Earth, Hitler led the military might of Germany’s technologically inventive society to the invasion of Europe in order to control valuable resources and land. He presented Germany as a “master race” and began a heartless treatment of both specific religious groups and civilians in many countries. Indeed, the war was going in his favor until the time America finally joined the Allies and planned the invasion that would lead to Germany’s downfall. From our perspective, this was a case where the people gave their power to someone who fed on their anger following World War I and promised to restore Germany to her military greatness.

The interesting thing about Germany’s defeat was that after they surrendered, the Allies divided the country into two separate physical parts and the people were then controlled by two different governmental systems. The Berlin Wall separated the population into an eastern portion of repression under communism whereas the western area was allowed to institute a more democratic system. This was an obvious example, within one nation, of choices the people experienced that helped them choose a wiser governmental path after the wall came down.

Whether it is the Japanese people’s surrender to their emperor/military leaders or the hypnotic surrender to a madman like Hitler who gains control over the military, you must surely realize that when military control is achieved over the population, there will be horrendous pain and suffering as consequences.

In this regard, if you look today toward the country called China you will realize that there are enormous soul challenges ahead. With a citizenry accounting for about one-fourth of the Earth's total population the government still clings to the authoritarianism of past leadership. At the same time, the people's hunger for economic goods is growing and these forces are in constant stress to see whether an accommodation can be reached between them without causing an internal or external war. The past regulation of limiting the number of children per family, the disregard for women in society, and the challenge of technological growth presents an enormous challenge to the ruling power in this century. We suggest you encourage democratic education there any way you can but meanwhile be open to learn the many alternative medical procedures they can teach you. They hold ancient health wisdom that America lacks.

Similarly, India has a burgeoning population and is facing the need for a bolder movement into economic success. In a land where the ancient Hindu were a wise and spiritual people there is currently much need for a religious evaluation to reform the caste system and change the present attitude about the value of women in society. Where some female children are still killed because of their gender, and the sexes often do not know one another as individual people, this ancient land is ripe for individual and national soul growth.

Finally, I wish to comment upon the area you call the Middle East where once I seeded the qualities of love and forgiveness for future generations to apply. Even today there is a strong energy demand for separation and dispute rather than a call for unity. And there is a fervent deception that surrounds and engulfs all religious issues, often with enormous rage. That is why these fanatical, explosive cults exist and will continue to misconstrue the true meaning of their founder's teachings.

There are many people that rigidly hang onto negative interpretations of their teachings – teachings that actually call for cooperation and love - rather than expressing a cooperative passion for peace. Yes, the egotism runs deep in those who insist on having their one true faith and who have cast themselves as the true believers, stunted though they are in their understanding. And it is a place where having ownership of oil riches has exempted the rulers from instituting democratic practices, further encouraging certain disadvantaged citizens to express their rage in violent acts. It will be pleasing to me when such limited awareness can be raised into higher consciousness.

Now, beloveds, why have I taken so much time discussing this issue on the soul qualities of the nations of the world? It is because I want you to see that there is a plan underway for each person, each country, and for the planet herself for those who will support it. No two nations are identical. Yet the same soul questions and opportunities are constant and the solutions are always based on the willingness to change and to make agreements leading to positive outcomes. I hope you can see that we are influencing the human souls to awaken and that we are committed to seeing you through the challenging times ahead if you will just listen within and use the light energies in a trustworthy way.

Even as you are going through these mysterious planetary changes caused by the photon belt, the grid system's frequency, and the effects of the sun's solar flares on earthly life, we are with you and will support your soul's growing ability to connect with your personality. Yes, there are wars and rumors of wars. Yes, people can still be cruel to one another. But the rapidity of the supportive energies now available to humanity will move things along very quickly as long as you take a positive view of life's events.

Many of you call to us and ask how it is possible to feel encouraged with so many negative things happening. My answer, as always, is that you must focus on what you want, not on what appears to be the reality. You must create a vision of your reality that fits your soul plan for this life and never surrender it regardless of outward appearances! That is the purpose of faith. And it was my mission on Earth those many years ago to convince you that you are the living aspect of creation incarnate. I tell you that your mind is powerful and you can fill it with supportive intentions and develop the emotional nature that maintains your equilibrium when others are confused and negative.

Many humans in many countries are being challenged to seek spiritual awareness, not religious fanaticism or atheism, and to do it voluntarily without having to experience painful catastrophes and calamities to shift their perceptions. Because you are now in "a pregnant energy age" when people and nations can achieve remarkable growth and fulfillment very quickly, it is a rare moment that can lead to accelerated world cooperation. Please, please practice this truth. Each person who declares they will live the day in peace and joins with others to do the same is creating an energy agreement that can change their world experience.

You are the truth bringers and the practitioners of mind over matter. As you deepen your passionate commitment to creating your world with your mind, enormous possibilities exist for human evolution. I want you to hold this truth close in your heart, beloveds, with a spiritual fire! For as I told you a year ago, you and the Earth may experience many physical changes in the days ahead. I advised you then to be properly supplied with water, food, shelter and clothing in case of emergencies. There have been tremendous weather changes, as warned, and the huge tsunami disaster when many lost their physical lives should have reminded you to be meditating every day! You have not heard the stories of people who suddenly changed their plans for “no good reason” and lived to avoid this event, but there were many. Just as there will always be for those who are attentive to their inner guidance.

Perhaps now that the busyness of holidays are over and both the Spring equinox and Easter celebration approach, it is time to pause and prepare yourself and your home for any possible future disturbances in climate, weather, and health issues. You may be sure we desire to support your continuing service here on this exquisite planet for as long as possible but your soul and we cannot guide you if you fail to listen.

Humanity sits on the balancing board of greater harmony - a place of opportunity for or against life, for or against democratic principles. And you have these precious years to bring the powerful love energy now available to help you apply it in everyday choice and practice. My comments are not meant to create fear about the human experience but to move your indolence into action and I share it with a brother's love. There is a tremendous lack of discipline among the people of all countries, but especially among the more materialistic western nations which concerns us deeply.

I leave you only through the kindness of this channel and will be arranging a conference call sometime in the days ahead when I believe it will benefit you. Meanwhile, many angels, teachers and guides support your willingness to fulfill the goals of your soul, the planet's soul, the nation's soul, the local government's soul, and the souls of all humans in residence on Earth. You have deliberately selected this extraordinary time to practice your creative talents so let us be about the Mother/Father's work with dedication and joy.

Thank you, precious creation of divine light, for doing all you can to share your true essence with this needy world.

I AM always your concerned elder brother and celestial friend,

CHRIST JESUS

VIRGINIA'S MESSAGE

Dear friends and fellow light servers,

This has been a very challenging time for me personally as the Share Foundation office had to be moved to my little home and everything is still in partial disarray. Our office manager works full time on another job so I have to deal with some of the details she would usually handle, though she will still be our occasional bookkeeper, thank goodness! So I greatly appreciate your patience in understanding that this particular newsletter is coming to you later than I would normally send it.

It is also possible that the dates you receive your newsletter copies may not fit our former schedule but will be determined by our Lord's desire for timing when messages are to be sent, which is something new. He previously agreed to fit into our publishing schedule and now I've agreed to let him set the schedule. He has been concerned there will be times he urgently wants to communicate with you and I will do my best to accommodate his desires. I am also designing the newsletter as an email document just to make my own life easier, so the format may look different than before. If you have any difficulty reading it, let me know.

All of this publishing change is related to my own life needs at age 76, and I know many of you are facing your own challenges and opportunities, as well, so we are all in this shift together. Let's offer each other spiritual and emotional support when it's needed as an example of spiritual family concern. And let's be certain we continue our meditation commitment without fail. It will help balance the outpouring accelerated energies we will be receiving at the Spring solstice, March 20th, with a full moon on March 25th, and Easter very close behind on the 27th. This may well be an energy whammy so treat yourself well and only do the essentials if you feel too inundated by its influence.

For those of you used to having a brief personal conversation with our Lord on Easter afternoon, this is probably the last time I can promise that situation instead of a general conference call where many people listen simultaneously but can not ask personal questions. So I will again be available from 1:00pm until 5:00pm Pacific Standard Time at my home telephone number in California ... (408) 248-8244.

In closing, know that I deeply appreciate who you are and how your loving presence on the planet continues to be of enormous value. Most especially I greatly appreciate your support to the SHARE Foundation through these many years of our service and I hope our continued relationship will support your personal needs and spiritual contributions to life.

With many blessings and loving affection I AM your eternal spiritual sister, Virginia
